WASHINGTON — The United States Capitol is a confusing place, full of little surprises. (I mean physically.) And Congressman Joseph William Martin of Massachusetts is getting a lot of fun out of it.

Bobcats to Battle State Champions in 2 Games Here

Afternoon and Night Contests Are Scheduled Friday

THREE ALL-STATERS
Bobcats Will Attempt to Snap 10-Game Winning Streak

The defending Arkansas high school basketball champions, the Jonesboro Golden Hurricane team, will meet the Hope High School squad in two conference clashes here Friday.

The first game begins at 8:45 o'clock and the second at 8 p. m. Both will be played in the high school gymnasium.

The Jonesboro team, with 10 victories and no defeats, launched the beginning of a successful invasion of southwest Arkansas by trouncing the Arkadelphia Badgers Thursday night, 48 to 23, at Arkadelphia.

After two conference tips here Friday, the Golden Hurricane team moves to Prescott for two contests Saturday afternoon and night with the Prescott Wolves.

50 Points Per Game

The strength of Coach Lowell Manning's crack cagers is reflected in the points averaged per game this season, that record being an average of 50 points per contest.

The visiting five will boast of three all-state cagers last season in Willard Tilley, J. Osmont and L. Barring. It is the same team of last year, with the exception of the loss of one regular.

Bobcats Have Strength

Coach Foy Hammond's five is undefeated in the Arkansas High School conference, having three victories thus far, two over Hot Springs and one over El Dorado. All have been won by impressive scores.

Norman Green, forward and leading scorer of the Bobcats, will be pitted against Willard Tilley, ace forward for the Jonesboro squad and present holder of high scoring honors in the "Big 15" conference.

Green looped the basket for 21 points against El Dorado the other night while Tilley was setting a new scoring record in a game against Blytheville.

Local school officials prepared for the largest basketball crowd ever to witness a cage game in Hope. Junior and senior students throughout southwest Arkansas have been invited to Hope to hear the address of Dr. Allen D. Albert at the high school auditorium at 2 p. m. Friday.

Many of the visiting students were reported to remain for the afternoon contest between the Hope and Jonesboro teams at 8:45 o'clock.

The night contest beginning at 8 o'clock is expected to attract many towns people and supporters of the Bobcats.

Jonesboro Trounces Arkadelphia

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. — Jonesboro High School defeated Arkadelphia here Thursday night, 48 to 23. The Badgers showed stage fright in the first quarter, during which the visiting team shot 15 points to their none. But the second quarter saw the Badgers play brilliantly. Clever team play of the champions usually was topped off by brilliant shooting.

J. Osmont was high scorer with 19 points to lead the Jonesboro attack. Tilley scored 11.

Lawrence of Arkadelphia played a fine floor game as well as taking a leading role in his team's scoring. E. Osmont was another Jonesboro star.

Donald Moore Moves to Larger Building

Donald W. Moore has moved his meat market two doors east of the former location on East Third street to a larger building.

Mr. Moore announced that he would carry a larger line of cured and fresh meats, groceries and K. C. meats, featuring cleanliness, quality and free delivery.

He asks his friends and patrons to call on him at his new market.

Henry S. Yocum Named Trustee of University

LITTLE ROCK — Governor Bailey Friday appointed Henry S. Yocum, El Dorado attorney, to membership on the University of Arkansas board of trustees to serve a 10-year term.

FRANCE GETS PLANES

Deadline on State Unemployment Tax Filing Is Jan. 30

Must Pay State First to Obtain Credit on Federal Return

LAST QUARTER 1938
Quarterly 2.7% Due State, Annual 3% Due Federal Government

Warning is given all employers that their 2.7% tax on payroll for the last quarter of 1938 must be paid to the Arkansas Unemployment Compensation fund by January 30 if they expect to obtain credit for this when settling for the federal unemployment tax.

The unemployment section of the federal Social Security law provides that 90% of the tax shall to the state and 10% to the federal government—but, in actual practice, if the taxpayer hasn't paid his state tax by the time the federal tax is due he owes practically the full amount to both the state and federal governments.

How the Tax Works
Assuming that the employer has a total quarterly payroll of $1,000.00, on which there is an unemployment tax of 3%, he has been paying the state quarterly 90% of the tax, or 2.7%, or $27.00.

He must pay the $27.00 due the state fund for the last three months of 1938 by January 30, because on January 31 he must pay the federal government for the whole year.

If he has paid the state all his quarterly taxes on time he will owe the federal government only 3% on his full $4,000 yearly payroll or $12.00. But if he misses the January 30th deadline on the state, the federal government will consider that the whole 3% on the $1,000 payroll of the final quarter of 1938 is owed to it, and the state will also seek to collect the 2.7% tax as being delinquent.

Adkins' Statement
Homer M. Adkins, collector of internal revenue, has issued the following warning for the federal government:

"Your attention is called to the instructions on Form 940 relating to the credit allowable for contributions made to the State Unemployment Fund. The instructions specifically state 'A total credit allowed to any taxpayer for such contributions shall not any case exceed 90% of the tax against which credit is applied. The contribution must have been actually paid into the State Unemployment Fund before the date on which this return is required to be filed.'

"The law fixes the time for filing Forms 940 for 1938 as January 31st 1939. It is therefore apparent that any payment made to the State Unemployment Fund on January 31st or thereafter is not subject to the allowable credit. "If you desire the benefit of the credit it is highly important that you pay your tax to the State Unemployment Fund on or before January 30, 1939. If you wait until January 31st or thereafter the Bureau cannot allow you this credit. Claims are being constantly rejected on this account. It cannot put too much emphasis on this one question. If you do not pay your tax due the State Unemployment Fund on or before January 30th the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is without authority to allow you the credit. I trust you will take advantage of this information.

Sincerely,
"Collector of Internal Revenue"
"Little Rock, Ark."
January 19, 1939."

Stocks Decline on New War Fright

Shares Down to Lowest Levels Since Last September

NEW YORK —(AP)—Wall Street again disliked the looks of things in Europe Thursday, and the stock market fell back to the lowest ebb since late September with many issues off $1 to more than $5 a share.

Foreign selling was again in evidence, notably from Amsterdam in which city American securities have long been favorites, but brokers said specific developments to account for the wave of pessimism were lacking.

Foreign markets, lower in early dealings, recovered somewhat with news that General Franco had occupied Barcelona with little opposition. A bitter contest, with heavy toll of civilian life, had been feared. The London Stock Exchange finished with a mixture of gains and losses; the Paris Bourse mostly down compared with Wednesday, but up from the day's lowest.

"Hype Case" Finds He's Cost Total of $13,736 at Age 25

From CCC Camp He Goes to WPA, Thence to Farm Benefits

IT'S COMPLICATED
And He Is Driven From Farm Operation Back to WPA Again

During an entire lifetime an individual might draw his income from public funds under the national security and relief program. This story, second of three, concerns federal and state aid as distributed to a mythical individual from the age of 17 to 25.

By HARVEY WERTZ
NEA Service Staff Writer

Social workers, who had meant so much in the life of little Hype, saw him enrolled and on his way to CCC camp.

An average fellow, Hype weighed 147 pounds, was five feet, eight inches tall. His clothing, food and bed were furnished at CCC and he was paid $30 a month.

Of this amount he was required to send $22.50 each month to his mother. In camp he learned there are some 300,000 youths and war veterans enrolled in Civilian Conservation Corps and that during the nearly six years of their history they have cost the government more than $2,000,000,000. Of this amount $450,000,000 had been sent to dependents of the workers.

In the Woodlands
Hype was one of 200 in his camp. There were 17 administrators and instructors. He planted trees, dug ditches, built trails and stone houses in state parks, fought forest fires, built lookout towers, and gained eight pounds.

He worked eight hours a day, Monday through Friday. Most of his work was supervised by experts from the Interior and Agriculture departments. Instructors and administrators included men from the regular army, government experts of all kinds, National Youth Administration teachers and local teachers who lived in the vicinity of the camp.

Ten hours of each week was spent in vocational education or vocational examinations in an effort to help Hype discover what he wanted to do or what he was fitted to do. He was free to leave the camp and return home at any time, but he couldn't come back, once he had quit.

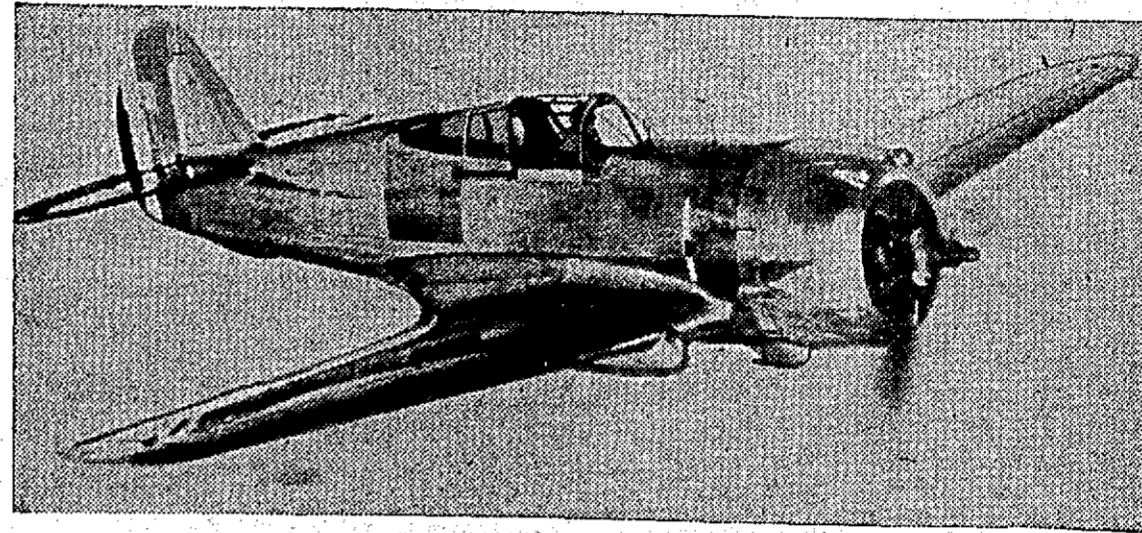

After 25 years Uncle Sam figures his investment.

It appeared reasonable that he might stay in the camp until he was 25, the maximum for youths. War veterans and older men were kept in separate camps.

The $22.50 he was able to send his mother each month was far from sufficient to support her. On one of his visits home he told a social worker that he wanted work on WPA in order

Abington Kills His Bill on Delegates

Withdraws His Measure to Elect Delegates by Popular Vote

Senator Abington, Beebe, unexpectedly withdrew Friday his bill providing for popular election of delegates to national party conventions after Senator Moore, Dumas, had unsuccessfully sought to bring the measure before the Arkansas Senate for a final vote.

Moore, proceeding to call for the bill while Abington was deliberately out of the chamber, declared it was of the utmost importance that the measure be killed Friday.

"I realize that it is unusual to call for final action on a bill during the absence of its author, but I think I am safe in saying Senator Abington is out of the chamber because he wants to be out."

The senate passed 18 to 12 a resolution by Senator Hudnall, Magnolia, proposing a constitutional amendment to reduce the membership of the House of Representatives from 100 to 75.

Opponents of the resolution sought to ridicule it, asserting the house would not pass such a measure, but Hudnall and Senator Dick Mason, Camden, waged a successful fight for the necessary 18 votes.

The house passed a bill by Hollensworth of Bradley, 84 to 10, to make available state income tax reports of the State Corporation Commission. He said this data might prove helpful in equalizing tax assessments.

Archer Motor Co. Team to Meet Gulf Oilers Friday Night

Friday night the Archer Motor company will play the Gulf Oilers in a preliminary game at the Hope High School Gymnasium at 7 o'clock.

Gulf is undefeated in league play, while Archer has lost one game. Games next week are on Tuesday, January 31: Unique Cafe vs. Archer Motor Co., at 7 o'clock; Gulf vs. Columbus at 7:45.

The probable line-up for Friday night's game is as follows: Gulf—Elliott and Turner, forward; Fulkerson, center; Parsons and England, guards.

Archer—C. Parker and Taylor, forwards; D. Parker, center; Grey and G. Parker, guards.

Whiteside Refuses to Be a Candidate

Secretary to Sen. Caraway Would Not Run Against Cravens' Son

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Announcement was made Thursday by Garrett Whiteside, secretary to Senator Hattie W. Caraway, that he would not be a candidate for congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Ben Cravens, Fort Smith, Ar., in the fourth Arkansas district.

Whiteside, who is dean of the congressional secretaries, said:

"In view of the candidacy of Representative Cravens' son, I could not enter the race. I have been encouraged to enter the race but feel that my position with Senator Caraway enables me to render service to my state and district, and that I belong where I am."

Whiteside first came to Washington as a member of Cravens' staff.

Local Pastor Heads Ministerial Group

Rev. V. A. Hammond Is Elected President of State Association

The ministers of the Christian churches of Arkansas closed a three-day institute at Little Rock Wednesday afternoon, perfecting a permanent organization to be known as "The Arkansas Christian Ministers Association."

The Rev. Vernon A. Hammond, pastor of the First Christian church of Hope, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year. Rev. J. W. Patterson of Blytheville was elected vice-president and Rev. Lester Bickford of Gurdon, secretary-treasurer.

The association is composed of active and retired ministers of the Christian churches of Arkansas, and represents a lay-membership of approximately 16,000. There are about 100 Christian churches in Arkansas, with about 50 resident ministers. Thirty-five active ministers of the state were in attendance in Little Rock at the meeting this week.

The institute just closed is the third annual meeting held, the entire group having been the guests of the four Christian churches of greater Little Rock and their pastors for the past three years. The newly-organized association will now take over the planning and carrying forward of this annual program.

Guest speakers at this year's meeting were Rev. Abe Corey, of Indianapolis, Ind., who is director of the pension fund for the Disciples of Christ, and Rev. Roger T. Nooe, pastor of Vine Street Christian church of Nashville, Tenn., now president of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ, which meets in Richmond, Va., in 1939.

French, British Threaten Retaliation Against Mussolini

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Roosevelt said Friday that United States airplane manufacturers had agreed, with the government's knowledge, to supply France with an "undesignated" number of airplanes.

The president was asked at his press conference whether steps had been taken here to facilitate French purchase of planes. He said he would have to reply in the negative as the question was put, but added that since many of the American plane factories were idle it would be a good thing if they accepted French plane orders and got them substantially under way before the larger American air program was started.

Asks U. S. Appropriation

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress Friday for an immediate appropriation of 50 million dollars to be spent largely for new airplanes in the administration's national defense program.

He submitted his request in a letter to Speaker Bankhead, which asked that the money be made available for expenditure during the remainder of the current fiscal year and through the year starting July 1.

By the Associated Press
The conquering Spanish insurgents flushed with success in capturing Barcelona, pushed up the coast Friday and seized the village of Badalona in an offensive designed to wipe out the government forces in Barcelona.

The Spanish government struggled to rally its scattered, disorganized forces against Generalissimo Franco's conquerors of Barcelona, while Europe's capitals prepared to cope with the aftermath of the insurgent success.

To the French, the swiftly moving events in Spain were a warning. With Italian legionnaires in the van of the insurgent forces near the French frontier, the government in Paris looked from some peaceful sign from the Fascist powers to justify an international economic and disarmament conference to banish the fear of war from Europe.

To Italian, Franco's triumph was an incentive. Foreign circles in Rome expressed the belief the day was near when Italy would present France with a bill of claims against Franco's empire.

Rome students, shouting "down with France", tried to march on the French embassy, but were turned back by police.

Refugees Head for France

LEPERTHUS, France —(AP)—Spanish government officials warned France Friday that Spanish garrisons would be unable to hold back tens of thousands of refugees moving toward the French border, if negotiations for a neutral zone were delayed much longer.

French Ambassador Jules Henry reported that he saw Spanish Premier Juan Negrin and told him there seemed to be little hope of establishing a neutral zone.

Threaten Italy

PARIS, France —(AP)—Premier Daladier disclosed Thursday that France and Britain had agreed on "the necessary measures" to counter any Italian refusal to withdraw from Spanish territory at the end of the civil war.

His foreign minister Georges Bonnet, said that Britain was solidly behind France in the face of a "question of force" which he said might soon arise from French-Italian friction. Daladier spoke before a group of Radical Socialists after Bonnet's foreign policy speech in the tenth and final session of foreign affairs debate in the Chamber of Deputies.

Daladier, who also is France's War Minister, remarked:

"It is characteristic that British and French warships are now cruising the Mediterranean along the coast of Spanish Morocco as well as near the Balearic islands."

This was taken to confirm that the French and British governments planned to occupy the Spanish government island of Minorca and insurgent-held Spanish Morocco is Premier Mussolini did not fulfill his promise to withdraw Italian forces from Spain.

An indication of the wide-spread popularity of the Ouachita Symphonic Choir is indicated by the following comments:

Dr. Frank H. Leavelle, secretary of the Southern Baptist Student Union, with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn., said concerning the singing of this organization at the 1938 Baptist Student Convention in Memphis: "To you and the marvelous Glee Club of Ouachita College goes the eternal gratitude of not only this humble writer, but of the 2,500 or more students who were blessed by your service at the Memphis B.S.U. Convention. I include in no flattery when I say that the contribution of the Glee Club was one of the major features which made for the success of the great meeting. I am truly grateful and indebted to you."

Dr. L. R. Scarborough, Fort Worth, President of the Southern Baptist Convention, has written, "I am happy to give my most hearty congratulations to the fine work this choir is doing. I have heard on a number of occasions the Ouachita Symphonic Choir and regard them as very fine singers. I congratulate them upon the fine programs that they have put on and the wonderfully fine music that they produce."

The prayers of Christian people are earnestly requested for the service First Baptist Church is seeking to render for the Lord.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Janet finds that Tim Benton's generosity has saved her prize. After long absence Barney returns and Janet awakes in a fog, forced to sleep in his car.

CHAPTER XVII

ONCE Barney roused long enough to pat her arm and murmur a drowsy apology; then he promptly dropped off again.

Janet did not wake him until a brisk wind scattered the fog and made driving possible. It was almost daylight when they rode into town.

"If anyone sees us," Janet told him as they stopped before the Breckenridge, "you may have to make an honest woman of me."

"You can't scare me," Aunt Mary doesn't own a shotgun," Barney grinned. Then his grin twisted, and his eyes held hers almost defiantly. "Of course this wouldn't make any difference to you," he blurted out, "but I can think of a lot of things I'd hate worse . . . Well, I guess you know your way in. I've got to run."

Before Janet could find words he had driven away . . . Of course it was just some more of Barney's nonsense. Nevertheless, she could not forget the way his eyes had searched hers.

Aunt Mary's door was closed when Janet stepped into the hall outside. Apparently she had gone to sleep and slept the night through. Janet never knew why she opened the door and peeped inside. She did not understand at once, either, what it was about the appearance of Aunt Mary's room that struck chill to her heart, even before she had opened the door wide enough to see more than the small area of rug at the head of the bed.

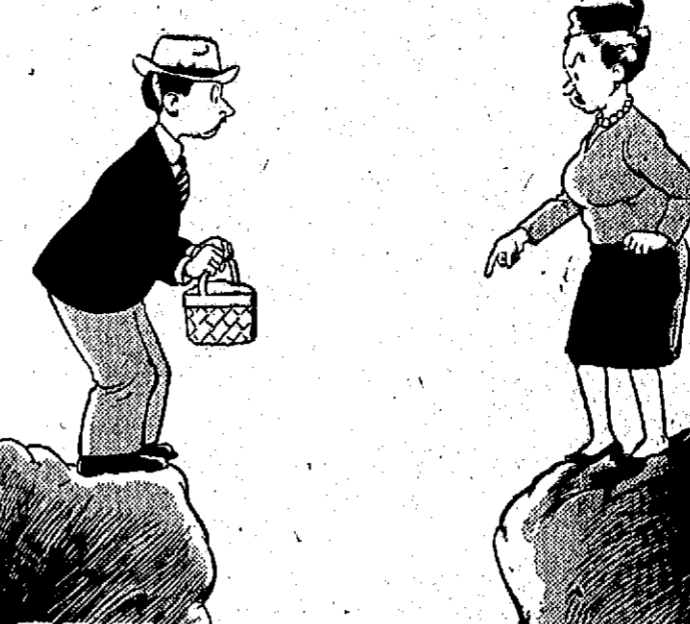

Of course the bed lamp was burning, but Aunt Mary often slept with a light.

Later, Janet remembered that it was the book on the floor. It was sprawled open, face upwards, with the leaves bent and crumpled. Aunt Mary, who cherished her books as she cherished her nest of kin, could never have left a book lying like that. . . . Yet she had.

A COLD blast of air greeted Janet as she went in.

The bed was empty. There was only a neat dent in the pillow, a slight disarrangement of the covers to indicate that it had been occupied.

Over by the front windows, under the wind-blown curtains, lay Aunt Mary in a crumpled heap on the floor. She must have risen from bed at the sound of some fog-bound motor horn, hoping, perhaps, that it was Barney's—of course this was only Janet's guess

RAISING A FAMILY

By Olive Roberts Barton

Children's "Make-believe" Is Realistic

"Why, children, what are you doing?" Dorothy's mother wanted to know.

"I told Tommy my dolly was sick and he could be come right over," said Dorothy.

Mrs. Blake looked at the open "doctors kit" on the table and then at Thomas, stethoscope screwed to his ears listening to Emily's heart. "I think Emily will be all right if she is just allowed to stay in bed," she said. "You two children put on your things and go out and play."

The doctor scrambled off the floor where he had been kneeling beside the anxious mother on her tiny chair, and stuck up for his professional rights. "Aw, we're just playing." And I was just going to give her some water medicine. Aunt Sue says Santa Claus shouldn't have brought me this present. I guess you're just like Aunt Sue."

Why Play Trouble?
"Well, Tommy I think it was grand of Santa Claus to bring you such a nice gift. But I think there is enough real, sickness in the world without making any more of it than we can help. Don't you?"

"Aw, I didn't make a-killin'." Dorothy told me to come a-runnin'. An doctors do that. I'm going to be a good doctor, someday. Come on, Dorothy. Let's get Joey. I'll get my soldier and he has about a hundred, too. You can be an officer, but I speak first for the machine guns."

Mrs. Blake looked after the youngsters. She wanted to shout, "I don't believe in playing soldier, either. Why, they actually gave Joey a gas the old gentleman a bag of peanuts I ever saw, even if it is just a false face."

I know that many other mothers, too, are puzzled about the realistic playthings made to amuse children. I am not sold too completely on some of them myself. But I have learned this, and I hope I am near the truth: that children do not always play they are good angels or fairies, whether they have the trapping or not. A boy needs no Indian suit to conjure up a massacre. He'll yell and whoop and scalp the enemy quite cold-bloodedly. He needs no cowboy suit or wooden gun to shoot a couple of horse thieves on sight. He lays them in the dust with a finger and a click of the tongue.

You see, children play at realism. We cannot put them in pink nurseries and tell them that all the outside world is a myth. They know better. The dramatic instinct calls for trouble. There is no plot or story without the "obstacle" in literary parlance.

At the Saenger

For the fifth time, the Judge Hardy family flashes on the screen, with their typical American humor and adventure when "Out West with the Hardys" enters to the Saenger theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The picture against stars the group of favorites whom millions of motion picture fans have come to know and to love. Lewis Stone continues as Judge Hardy, Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy, Cecilia Parker as Marian, Fay Holden as Mrs. Hardy, Sara Holden as Aunt Milly and Ann Rutherford as Polly, Andy's girl.

As in the case of the former Judge Hardy pictures, this story includes other characters. Virginia Weidner, 11-year-old child star, heads the list of "guest" performers in the latest Hardy film. Gordon Jones becomes Cecilia Parker's new cinematic heart interest and Ralph Morgan, brother of Frank, has a leading role.

With George Seitz directing as he did with previous Hardy pictures, this ver. But after all, just what things ARE morbid? The child doesn't think of them as anything but a good chance to show off. He plays doctor one minute and the next is building a skyscraper. He is a dozen people inside of an hour. It's all just part of the stage on which he acts. (Copy right, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

Montgomery Puts Turner to "Sleep"

Scores Knockout in Second Round to Defend His Title

LITTLE ROCK.—Lloyd Montgomery pitched his "Mary Ann" early in the second round and it blasted J. D. Turner into unconsciousness in the brawl for the Southern heavyweight championship here Thursday night.

A crowd of 2,500 rose to its collective feet and howled as Monty's sudden shot to the jaw sent the 212-pound giant from Dallas, Texas, tumbling to the canvas.

As the bell started the second heat, Lloyd danced but lightly, stabbed a left to Turner's face and suddenly backed J. D. into a neutral corner.

Apparently Turner knew what was coming—that Monty's next punch was a ticket to dreamland. So J. D. set himself to meet fire with fire or match right with right. But Montgomery's fist smashed squarely on Turner's jaw before J. D.'s fist moved an inch and it was Elmer doesn't live here any more.

As Monty backed out of the corner with the intention of shooting again, Turner collapsed as though he had been torpedoes. His head and gloves were resting on the mat several counts before Referee Tommy Freeman reached the fatal 10.

"Hype Case" Finds

to support his mother. The social worker certified as to the need of the family and in two weeks Hype received an order to report at WPA headquarters. He was assigned as a stone mason on a drainage project at a monthly salary of $66 for four 40-hour weeks.

From WPA to AAA
There was a single question about his age. He looked youthful. It was established that he was 24 years old and would soon be forced out of the CCC. Then he was permitted to go to work without further question.

Hype's work in WPA was little different than in CCC. He found on his first payday that he had little more money after his expenses were paid than he had when in camp. That was a contributing factor in his decision to get a job on the farm.

He worked a year, then wrote to an uncle, Jacob Wheatbeard, asking for a job with more pay.

His uncle, was a war veteran who was receiving a disability pension of $100 a month. His bonus of $1,500, the maximum benefit, had been used as down payment on a farm. It was apparent to the most casual observer, however, that Mr. Wheatbeard was not cut out to be a farmer. But he thought he needed Hype, so Hype went to work on the farm.

Uncle Jacob was unable to meet the carrying charges on the farm out of the crop revenue so he jumped at the chance to reduce his acreage under the crop control plan of the AAA.

His 200-acre farm gave him an allotment of 180 acres. He retired 160 of this allotment and so gained a check from the United States Treasury on the recommendation of the Department of Agriculture for $240, a payment of $1.50 per acre. More than that, he was permitted to raise lespedeza on the retired land and that paid well as a forage crop.

Hype Gets Mathematical
And so, while not working directly for the government, our hero Hype was being paid, through his uncle, from government funds.

Uncle Jacob told Hype that more than 3,077,000 checks were received by farmers in one year from the government and that some of the farmers received two checks or more.

Hype did a little figuring of his own. He had cost the government $4544 up to the time he was admitted to the CCC. Seven years there at $30 a month meant he was paid a total of $2520 and had cost the government an additional $70 a month for his maintenance, clothing and other expense or an additional sum of $5880. Total cost of Hype to the government from the age of 17 years to 24 had been $9400. In his stocking feed, then, Hype was a government investment of $12,944 plus a year on WPA at $66 a month to make the grand total $13,736 at the age of 25.

Cold weather drove Uncle Jacob into town where he toasted his feet by the fire and waited for his monthly pension check. Young Hype, alone on the farm, found it plenty of work and no fun. This didn't appeal to Hype for long. He went back to his old home, back to Mother and the WPA.

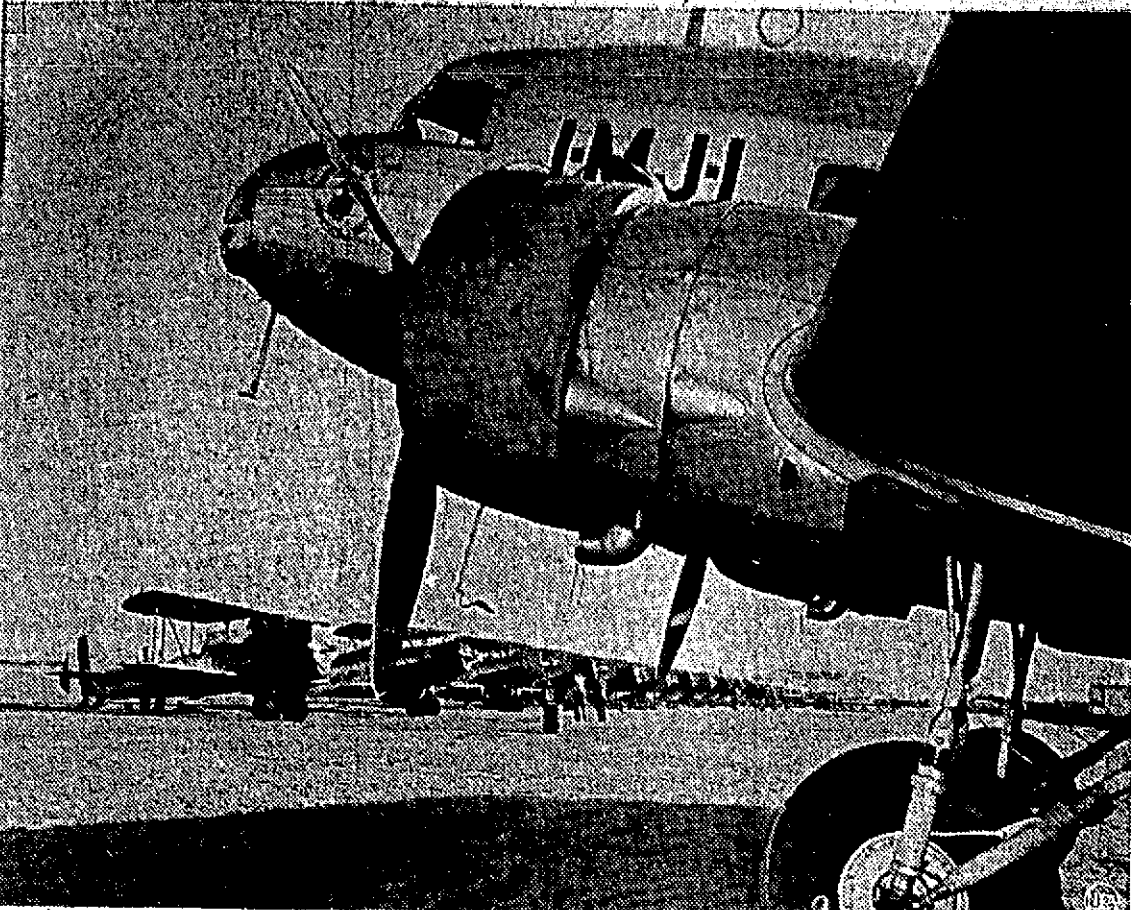

He was no stranger here and he was working again within a few days. Farming had been too complicated for him.

To Be Continued: Hype Case ends his days still on public payroll.

Peter's Three-Fold Acknowledgment

The words of Peter, "I go a fishing," after his denial of Jesus and his bitter repentance have usually been interpreted as marking Peter's deep discouragement and sense of failure, both in himself and in the cause and Leader in whom he had trusted.

It would have been only natural that Peter should have had an intense reaction of disgust with himself. With no evidence as yet of the resurrection, probably without any understanding of Jesus' words suggesting the hope of the resurrection, Peter might easily have regarded his hopes as disappointed and that phase of his life at an end.

Fishing had been his occupation. It was from this that Jesus had called him, and naturally he turned back to his old life.

It is quite possible, of course, that this conception of Peter's attitude may be all wrong and that, with sincere repentance, but without any undue loss of his faith, he was simply turning to his occupation. Peter may have been in the mood of those who say, "It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

Whatever Peter may have thought or felt, all the enthusiasm with which he had first turned to the Master was revived as he realized that Jesus was living and not dead. But this was not all. As the Master had singled him out of the some of His keenest words, including His warning against Peter's being "sifted as wheat" and His own prayer that Peter's faith should not fail, so now the Master, turned to him with the question, "Simon son of John, lovest thou me?"

Peter's words were simple and sincere. "Yea, Lord, Thou knowest that I love thee." His old boasting was gone, but there was a restrained and quiet faith. It was no longer for Peter a matter of ambition and power and preferment.

Again a second time came the question to Peter with the same reply, and yet a third time; for Peter had denied his Lord three times. Following this threefold acknowledgment and the admonition to feed the lambs and the sheep, there came prophetic words telling how Peter would also suffer for his Lord.

How different from the day when Peter had left his nets with a vision of a delivered Israel and of a new kingdom in which he would occupy a place of power and influence! The dreams of ambition and power were gone, but now as then, the word of Jesus was "Follow Me"—and Peter followed with the assurance that the way he was following was the way of the Cross, and the way of ministry in suffering and in sacrifice. Last fall citizens voted to issue bonds to match a PWA fund for the building of a hospital here.

"I Carry a Knife"

Next Opponent for Louis Considered

Bob Pastor May Be Likely Choice for Bout in March

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Although the latest victim of Joe Louis' sleeping positions hadn't yet come out of the "ether," Promoter Mike Jacobs and the brown bomber's brain trust went into a huddle Thursday to decide the next tasty dish to set before the heavyweight knug.

They arrived at no definite conclusion about an indoor fight in Madison Square Garden in March, but it was learned the only hitch in the negotiations was over selection of an opponent.

In this respect, now that John Henry Lewis out of the way as a result of the two minutes, 23 seconds to look Jolting Joe to flatten him Wednesday night, the only heavyweights rated as was ranting a shot at Jolting Joe were Madcap Maxie Baer, Lou (novice) Nova, Tony (Lat Bum) Galento and Bicycle Bob Pastor.

Since Baer and Nova already are matched for May 25, and inasmuch as a Galento-Louis bout is a natural for outdoors, Pastor is considered the most likely possibility for the indoor crack in March. And if Mike and Louis' managerial staff can become convinced that such a return match—Pastor went the ten-round route with Joe two years ago—would attract another $100,000 house, you can just about bet the family meal ticket it will be made. Joe wants the match to show he can catch up with the back-pedaling Pastor the next time out.

As usual after a big fight, everyone concerned turned up at Mike's office Thursday for the "hot stove" aftermath. John Henry and Joe both checked in to answer questions for the fight writers, and, of course, to collect for Wednesday night's party. Joe's cut of the $102,015.43 gate was $34,413.70, or 40 per cent, or breaking it down to figures of "one syllable," about $230.96 for each second he was in there pitching at Lewis. John Henry's 17 1/2 per cent cut amounted to $15,056 and lots of folks wondered if the beating was worth it.

Dean Gray Resigns at Farm College

Head of Extension Service Is Reported Quitting July 1

LITTLE ROCK.—Dan T. Gray, dean of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture and director of the Agricultural Extension Service since January, 1934, has submitted his resignation, it was learned Thursday.

Dr. J. C. Futrell, president of the University, who was here last night, said "I have no information to give out" when asked about the reported resignation.

Governor Bailey said Dean Gray's resignation had not come to his desk. He added that the usual procedure would be for the agriculture dean to submit his resignation to the president of the University.

Efforts to locate Dean Gray were unsuccessful. At Fayetteville it was said that he was out of town for the day. His assistant, J. V. Highfill, said at Fayetteville that he knew nothing about the reported resignation.

Caused of the dean's action was not learned definitely although it was reported authoritatively that Dean Gray had differed with certain other executives about administration of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program. The Agricultural Extension Service has a co-operative working agreement with the Department of Agriculture in administering the AAA program.

Reports of differences over the AAA program circulated several months ago when R. E. Short of Brinkley, and Harold Young of Gallows, Pulaski county, resigned from the state Cotton Conservation Committee. Mr. Short is president, and Mr. Young, vice president, of the powerful Arkansas Farm Bureau. Both are staunch supporters of the New Deal farm program and both have received many honors from highest officials of the AAA.

Other reports were that the resignation was influenced by action of the General Assembly in increasing membership of the University of Arkansas Board of Trustees from nine to 12. It was reported at that time that The dean of the College of Agriculture is hired by the board.

Little Rock Insurance Man Dies Pneumonia

1,472 Pass 65 on State's SS Rolls

Average Lump Payment by Federal Government Is $51.23

Persons reaching age 65 who have worked in jobs covered by the Social Security Act, or heirs of workers, filed a total of 1,472 claims in Arkansas in 1938, John H. Cooter, manager of the Social Security Board, field office at Texarkana, has announced.

A report on amounts paid has not yet been received from the Washington offices of the Board, but official records for November show payments to those in Arkansas attaining age 65 averaged $51.23, while those filed by heirs of deceased workers averaged $57.61.

Cooter said he believes there are a number of claims outstanding, due in some cases to ignorance of the provisions of the Social Security Act on the part of workers or their heirs. In other cases where amounts are small, claims may not have been filed because of a mistaken belief that "red tape" is involved, the field manager said.

"Several ruling deemed necessary at the beginning of Federal Old-Age Insurance in connection with claims payments have been changed," Cooter stated. "For example, administration of estates was formerly required if there were no blood relatives. Now, relatives by marriage if otherwise eligible to receive payments may do so where they have paid the funeral expenses."

Cooter's office is located at 406 Federal Building, Texarkana, Ark.

"I recognize the courage of the Italian people. But the people of France cannot tolerate, whatever the circumstances, that her territorial integrity be touched in North Africa or that the liberty of her Mediterranean communications be put in danger."

"I will not cede a single piece of our land, nor a single one of our rights. There can be no question whatever of discussing any sacrifices whatsoever. Any policy of retreat is impossible and ruinous for us at the present time."

"At this moment France turns her thoughts particularly toward the great Anglo-Saxon nations which have given us their word that they will be at our side."

"Britain's friendship is very precious to us and we think the United States, whose president addressed words to us which touched us very deeply."

Caraway Asks for Road Legislation

Would Relieve Arkansas of Matching Federal Highway Funds

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator Caraway introduced Thursday a bill to extend for another year legislation relieving Arkansas of the necessity of matching federal funds for road aid money.

Legislation passed last session, under which Arkansas received the exemption, will expire June 30. The exemption was granted because the state devoted at least 90 per cent of its gas tax collections to its highways without having sufficient money to match its share of federal money.

The senator also asked appropriation of $300,000,000 to furnish employment in 1940 and 1941 fiscal years by providing for emergency construction of public highways and regulated projects.

Veteran Baseball Scout Laments Scarcity of Prospects

ST. LOUIS.—(AP)—Take it from Scout Ray Cahill of the Browns, the kindergartners look like the next hunting grounds for baseball ivory.

And even there, when you find a prospect he probably will want a bonus for signing, lamented Cahill.

"It was different in the old days," he recalled with a sigh. "All they wanted was a chance."

Cahill, who has been around as a scout for many years, said every likely prospect is "sweved up" now.

"When I started you could scout an entire league and buy what you liked. Now it's unusual to find a small independent club. Some major or larger minor league club has paid for the pick of the players."

Young ballplayers were different, too, in the "old days," Cahill said.

"You'd find more smart players, youngsters who would out smart the opposition by bunting and stealing bases. Now they all stand back, hold the bat at the end and try for home runs."

"The most striking thing to me nowadays is the scarcity of good arms. I've scouted many a league without finding a pitcher with a fast ball."

"What caused that? I don't know, unless it's softball and football. I know that softball hurts a kid's arm. If a boy ever wants to play real baseball, he'd better stay out of that, because he can't play both."

"Football does things to shoulders and elbows and arms and knees. It's a lucky kid who goes through football without losing too much speed of foot and arm."
